MCKINLEY SWORN IN

The Buckeye Governor Enters Upon a Second Term as Chief Executive.

THE OCCASION MORE OF A SOCIAL THAN A POLITICAL EVENT.

Both Republicans and Democrats Participated in the Ceremonies—About 5,000 Men Were in the Procession—The Governor's Speech—A Reception This Evening.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5.—Gov. McKinley's inauguration today to a second term as Chief Executive of Ohio, was, as usual, more of a social than a political event. Col. James Kilbourne, a leading business and society man and a possible Democratic nominee some day for Congress, was Chairman of the Committee on Reception. Lincoln P. Hittler of the Thurman Club, the swell political organization of Democratic proclivities, was one of the principal aides to the chief marshal, John J. Lents. The ceremony was held at the Ohio Statehouse, where the Governor-elect, during Mr. Cleveland's first term, Hon. Melvin S. Owen, ex-Judge of the Supreme Court; Hon. H. J. Booth, Hon. T. E. Powell (who ran against Foraker for Governor) John L. Trauger, who will preside at the Ohio Statehouse, and other dignitaries, Mayor Karb, ex-Mayor Philip H. Bruck, County Treasurer; Samuel A. Kline, Col. G. H. Bargar, pension agent under the first administration of Mr. Cleveland; ex-Mayor Peters, Allen Thurman and other Democrats of State or national reputation and who are leaders here in their respective professional and business lines were conspicuous in the ceremonies.

Similar events usually constitute a semi-holiday. Business is not suspended, but a great many people give the day or evening to pleasure. These courtesies, regardless of party, probably began with the inauguration of the late William Allen, when the ceremony had been continued almost without exception ever since. It was, perhaps, on that account that Gov. McKinley refrained from touching especially upon political topics. Some of his political friends were of the opinion that it was not wise to speak directly on political affairs of national importance, but the Governor decided to do otherwise.

Contrary to former experience upon many similar occasions in late years, the weather was clear and cold, and the well-paved streets were dry and clean. About 5,000 men were in the procession. Among these were the Blaine and Logan clubs of Cincinnati, the Young Men's Club of Canton, the Toledo Republican Club, the local Republican clubs and certain military organizations, all in command of Marshal-in-Chief H. A. Axline, ex-Adjutant-General of the State. There were not, of course, any Democratic clubs in the line, but the military and civic organizations and the staffs of marshals contained many well-known local and other Democrats.

Among the military was the United States Harpers Band and a battalion of 100 men. The Ohio National Guard was represented by detachments from the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, MARY CLEMENTS, A CHANCE SPECTATOR, BOUND AND GAGGED.

Though the Police Were at Once Notified and Began Scouring the Entire City the Three Bold Thieves Made Good Their Escape—Details of One of the Most Daring of Daylight Robberies.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 8.—Three desperadoes captured between $5,000 and $10,000 worth of plunder in the Star Loan Office, 65 Randolph street, during business hours to-day. The men escaped, though police officers quickly began scouring the city for the robbers. Samuel Greenburg owns the pawnshop. It was in charge of Lionel Greenburg, a clerk. He was bound and gagged before the men began operations on the stock. They were interrupted as they were pocketing the plunder by 15-year-old Mary Clements, a neighbor's child. The robbers seized the girl and bound and gagged her. Her absence led to the discovery of the robbery. She and young Greenburg were found helpless in the rear of the building.

Lionel Greenburg was alone in the office when the robbers appeared. He had previously opened the shop, unlocked the safe and was buying himself about his duties when a stranger called and asked to be shown a fur coat. Greenburg led the man to the rear of the store and began showing him an assortment of capes. Suddenly the man, he says, seized him and threw him to the floor. At this moment two others entered the office and joined in the attack on the clerk. He is 35 years old, of slight build, and was soon overpowered. The thieves bound his hands, gagged him with a red handkerchief and tossed his helpless body in a corner of the office. Clothing and loose articles in the store were piled over him until he was almost hidden from view. One man stood guard over the corner and his confederates started for the safe. The outer door was closed, but not locked, Greenburg having opened the combination soon after his arrival. Valuable property contained in the safe was protected, however, by an inside compartment locked with keys. These keys were in Greenburg's pockets, and the robbers made him give them up. Opening the small drawer they found property valued by Samuel Greenburg, the proprietor, at nearly $10,000. He says there were a number of diamonds and gold watches and $500. One diamond, he says, weighed 8 karats, and was worth $500.

The robbers took a small satchel from the stock and dropped it in the contents of the tray. Greenburg next occupied their attention. He wore a diamond stud and a gold watch and chain. These articles were added to the plunder deposited in the satchel. As the men were preparing to leave Mary Clements, a child of the family occupying apartments above the pawnshop, ran downstairs to learn the time of day. Her entrance created a momentary hesitation. One of the robbers seized her and binding her hands, marched her to a corner near Greenburg. After a few moments' further delay the robbers left the office.

Greenburg succeeded in loosening himself when the man who had guarded him with the revolver left, and ran out to the street as one of the Clements family was entering to find the child.

Hurrying telling his story he started on a run for Desplaines Street Police Station, where a large number of officers were at once put to work upon the case.

DARING BURGLARY.

Leonard Klein Lets a Negro Into His Home and Is Assaulted.

Leonard Klein of 1311 Biddle street last night reported to the police of the Third District a very daring attempt at burglary, which he claimed had been committed at his residence. He said that between 8 and 9 o'clock he was sitting at his kitchen table counting some money when he saw two negroes looking through a side window. One of them then knocked on the door and was admitted by Klein. After the negro had been in the room a few minutes Klein alleged that he was suddenly assaulted from behind and seized his pocket book. The negro then made a dash for the door, but Klein caught him and held him. Klein claims that he made a dash for the door, but Klein caught him and held him. Klein claims that he made a dash for the door, but Klein caught him and held him.

FIRED ON THE POLICEMAN.
Officer Crowley Captures Frank Brennan After an Exciting Resistance.

Frank Brennan, who bears a bad reputation, was arrested on Fourteenth and Franklin avenues, this morning at 1 o'clock on suspicion of snatching a pocket book containing some small change, from Mary Coons of 919 O'Fallon street, on Sunday afternoon at the corner of Fifteenth and Franklin avenues. When Officer Crowley accosted Brennan, the latter was accompanied by a crowd of confederates, and he showed fight. His pals ran and fired several shots at the officer. The latter held to the prisoner, however, and brought him to submission by a blow of his club.

POINT FOR THE CLUB.
Judge Valliant Overrules Commissioner Bell's Denial in the Test Case.

Judge Valliant to-day overruled the demurrer of Nicholas Bell in the case of the State vs. the relation of Bell against the St. Louis Club. This is the celebrated test case made for the purpose of finding out whether clubs should be compelled to take out a license for selling liquor. In the original petition the respondent makes a general charge of liquor-selling against the club. An answer was made giving a number of reasons why the club did not sell liquor under the law. Then Judge Bell denied a demurrer to the answer stating in general that large sections of the answer were insufficient. Judge Valliant said in his opinion to-day that if the respondent's answer were true the respondent has not sold liquor under the meaning of the statutes. The demurrer was therefore overruled.

Got Judgment by Default.
In the case of Chris Von der Ahe against the Baltimore Base Ball Club a default was granted and the attachment sustained.

This is one of the cases growing out of the fight over the St. Louis Club, which Chris Von der Ahe has had on his hands for some time past. When the Baltimore Club was playing here during the season an attachment was sued out and all of the gate receipts seized by the sheriff on the petition of Von der Ahe. The amount sued for was $600.

The Norton-Spaulling Suit.
The suit of John W. Norton against Chas. A. Spaulling and Pierre Chouteau was set for trial in Court Room No. 1 to-day. Manager Norton claims that on March 5, 1891, an agreement was entered into whereby the interests of the Olympic Theater and the Olympic Club were to be pooled. Manager Norton was to get from the theater $40 a week for his services during the theatrical season. He was to be paid up to 1892, and now asks for his money for the seasons 1891, 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895. These seasons make up a total of 165 weeks, which at $40 per week will amount to $6,600.

By way of answer, the defendants state that Mr. Norton had paid that he had due him and that for several of the seasons for which he asks salary, he did not properly attend to his duties as manager. It is said the suit is in reality against Spaulling and Pierre Chouteau, who were interested in the pool with him at the time, being made a defendant as a matter of form.

An Interesting Point.
Attorney Ben Schurmacher raised a very interesting point in the matter of a Justice of the Peace's jurisdiction in the case of W. S. Morgan against Edwin Paulus, Charles I. Hatridge and Ella M. Hatridge. The defendants had petitioned to recall an execution issued on a transcript from Justice Sheehan. The plaintiff sued before the Justice for breach of contract, and the Justice rendered judgment for the sum sued. The defendants did not get the proper summons and now ask that the execution be set aside on the ground that the Justice's jurisdiction was wanting in the district of the Justice who gave the judgment. The plaintiff or defendant residents of the district at the time the execution issued. The case was set for a hearing to-morrow morning.

A County Sues a Bank.

TROUBLE IN HAWAII.
Dynamite Fiends.

HONOLULU, Jan. 8, 1894.—The city is in an uproar. Immense crowds surging to and fro. The castle has been surrounded, and a howling mob of Catholics controls the city. Despite the entire military force, secret wires are attached to dynamite bombs, and the city's destruction is expected at any moment. The American minister has instructed all Americans to board vessels in the harbor without delay.

The Most Pleasant Way.

To be benefited one must get the true remedy, manufactured by the California Fig-Syrup Co. only. For sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles.

Failed to Elect Directors.
At 9 o'clock this morning the stockholders of the Catholic Publishing Co. assembled at the office of the Catholic World and Church Progress at 26 South Fourth street to have the annual election for a Board of Directors. The priests and laymen present were in conference for an hour and a half, but at the end of that time the election had been postponed until the next day.

A Report Gained Currency in Catholic Circles.
For a few days ago the Rev. O. J. McDonald, business manager of the paper, was anxious to retire from his position. Mr. McDonald said this morning that the report was true, but he deemed the publication of the fact premature, and his resignation is officially announced.

Perfecting the Details—What the Fund

Will Do.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch yesterday published the details of the plan for the relief of the unemployed men of St. Louis.

The plan proposes the immediate opening of work on the establishment of a large boating and fishing lake in Forest Park, the work to be done by men vainly seeking employment in this city, and to be paid for from a fund to be raised by corporate, popular and private subscription.

The plan also provides for the employment of the unemployed, and the addition of a splendid attraction to Forest Park.

That the work proposed by the establishment of the Lake Pool Fund will meet with the promptest and heartiest response from the public the Post-Dispatch feels assured.

That it has already received the unqualified

PERFECTING THE DETAILS.

The greatest care has been taken in perfecting the details of the proposed work.

The surveys and final plan for the lake in Forest Park will be made by the engineers of the Board of Public Improvements under the direction of President McMath. The work of excavating the lake will be done under the supervision of superintendents and foremen of the Board of Public Improvements. All the work above mentioned will be done free of charge. With this arrangement the Lake Pool Fund will be used in payment of the work of excavating the lake and directly to the unemployed of St. Louis.

The proper handling of the Lake Pool Fund has been provided for as follows:

A committee of citizens will be appointed, to whom the handling of the fund and the payment for work done will be intrusted.

The subscriptions received for the fund will be deposited in a St. Louis bank to the order of this committee. Every man who applies to this committee for work will be referred to the committee by parties to whom he has applied for assistance, shall be furnished a check for the amount of his work. Upon these tickets as vouchers the committee will pay the laborers for the work done.

AT THE THEATERS.

Felix Morris at the Olympic-James O'Neill in "Monte Cristo." Mr. Felix Morris opened his return engagement at the Olympic Theater last night. Mr.
Morris' audience was small, but appreciative, and the actor was frequently applauded for his exceptionally fine work. The bill presented last night was a double one.
The curtain raiser was a one act sketch entitled, "Kerry," by Dion Boucicault, in which Mr. Morris played the title role. The piece is one which gives Mr. Morris a great opportunity, which is accepted and made the most of by the actor.
The second piece presented was a three-act comedy entitled "The Paper Chase." The play is exceptionally funny and is made more so by the clear manner in which it is handled by Mr. Morris and his company. In the latter piece Mr. Morris plays the part of an old man in his dotage, hard of hearing, seeing things he ought not to see, and not seeing things which he should see. The character is cleverly drawn and has its counterpart in every fussy old man who imagines he is still as young as he used to be. Mr. Morris when seen in St. Louis the earlier part of the season made a lasting impression upon those who witnessed his wonderful work in "Cousin Joe," "The Old Musician," "The Rose," "The Major," and other pieces presented by him. The pieces presented last night by the comedian called for an entirely different bit of character work than anything done before. Mr. Morris' supporting company is good and lead a great deal of the charm of the performance.
Mrs. Harriet Otis Dellenbaugh, Miss Jean Cope and Mr. Frank Hatch contribute much to the performance of Mr. Morris and share with the actor much of the applause he receives.
AT THE GRAND.
or the first time. Five cents James

O'Neill in "Monte Cristo," opened for a week's engagement last night at the Grand Opera House. The audience which greeted Mr. O'Neill last night was large and enthusiastic, and the actor was called before the curtain at the end of each act and given a call at the close of the performance. The showing of "Monte Cristo" for five years has done both the piece and the actor good. Mr.
O'Neill plays the part of Edmund Dantes with more fire and vim than he ever did, and the company seemed to catch the spirit which permeates the story, making the piece seem like new. Mr. O'Neill is now getting on in years, but to see him in the first act it is hard to believe he is anything but a lad of 20.
The piece last night was magnificently staged and beautifully costumed. Mr.
O'Neill's supporting company is good; Mr.
Johnson as Scourge and Mr. Pascoe were excellent.
Some interest centers around the appearance of Miss Lillie Celeste, who played Mercedes. Miss Celeste made her first appearance before a St. Louis audience last night and was well received. The young lady the past season played opposite Paris to Ada Rehan in Daly's London theater. She is an actress of ability and promise.
AT THE HAVEN.
Kate Claxton in "1807" opened at the Hagan last night. The piece is a revival of "A Double Marriage," a play that Miss Claxton presented successfully under that name several years ago. It is a French military drama laid in the time of the first Napoleon.
The story is one of love and war, full of dramatic situations and military pictures. It deals with the fortunes of the French family Beaupre.
The piece is in five acts and well put on.
Miss Claxton and Miss Julia Stuart an actress of exceptional ability are both seen to advantage. The remainder of the company are good.
AT POPA'S.
Gus Williams in "German" opened at Popa's last night. The piece is a comedy entitled "April Fool" and is a very good one.

misfortunes and law affairs of Theodore Krantz. The piece is a large comedy and during the action of the piece a number of good specialties are introduced, principal among which are the loving sisters, Myrtle and Lillian. The sisters, who are St. Louis girls do the umbrella dance which they did at the Caves in Chicago last summer.
AT HAVIN'S.
"Paul Kaurar," full of bomb-throwing, rioting French Anarchists, love, liberty and justice, is the attraction at Havin's. "Paul Kaurar" has been seen in St. Louis several times and always to advantage. The piece is one that appeals to both the gallery and partisan.
